

ENERGY DECISIONS

Energy Decisions is a comprehensive annual corporate and government journal designed to reflect the developing nature of Africa's power-generation environment. It offers readers a structured coverage of all energy-related aspects of the continent's development. These include all forms of renewables, conventional power generation methods and nuclear.

A separate oil and gas section is dedicated to the importance of the hydrocarbons mix in Africa's economic growth. Copies are distributed to decision-makers and senior energy initiators in African industry, commerce and government, as well as to directors of listed companies in sub-Saharan Africa.

Among the readership are CEOs, company directors, senior management, government ministers and various state officials.
